

Encouraging voters to show up for primary | Letters

Voters have a chance to pick local government officials, judges as well as state and federal leaders during the Aug. 28 election.

AUGUST 10, 2018, 10:20 AM

Do your research and vote for judges

Your vote is your voice before you ever go to court. Voting for judges in the Aug. 28th election is very important because judges directly impact your daily life. They preside over your traffic issues, family issues, when someone in your family passes away, neighbor disputes, contract issues, etc. When deciding on whom to vote for look for someone with a good temperament that you believe is impartial, fair, experienced and committed to following the law.

Judicial elections are nonpartisan. So, every voter can vote for judges regardless of political affiliation. The Vote's in Your Court is an excellent resource provided by The Florida Bar (votersguide@floridabar.org) to become informed about judicial elections. Ask for it, it's free and full of useful information. Another excellent resource is the League of Women Voters' Vote 411 where you can see judicial candidate's biographies and endorsements. And, for goodness sakes vote!

Nakia Ruffin, Pembroke Pines